

From: friendsofnikki@comcast.net

Sent: Tuesday, March 1, 2011 10:45:36 PM

Subject: A New Kahora Arrived on Sunday

Hi Everyone,

This weekend the Kahora household was blessed with another precious little soul to love. Tommy (Bahama) Kahora was picked up from his foster Mom in Binghamton, NY, by his Mommy, Daddy and sister. He's a Japanese Chin, like Lilly. He is only 6 months old, but lived his first 4 months in a cage at a commercial breeder's in Iowa. He is a sweet little boy, a little afraid of his new environment, but adjusting quite well for only 48 hours. Lilly needed a playmate, and we still had plenty of love to give. She loves having someone small to play with. He's currently 4.4lbs, but will probably be bigger than her within a few months. I'm sure that Doogie, Nikki, Danni and Ziggy all approve of us giving a love-filled life to another 2 little "monkeys". They bring us such joy despite how very much we miss our Doogie. I promised Tommy that he would never have to stay in a cage again. He's one of the lucky ones, and so are we.

I've attached some of his first photos in the hotel, and the car ride home.

Warmly,
Donna